

I CLAIM:

1. A golf putter, comprising:

(a) a putter head having a striking face, a sole, a centerline marker marking the desired area of putter to ball impact, a toe normally positioned remote from a user when in play and a heel opposite said toe; and

(b) an elongated putter shaft having a grip on one end and, at an opposite end, attached to said putter head between the centerline marker and said toe, said putter shaft having a transverse marking which lines up vertically with the centerline marker on said putter head when a user is holding said putter in a putting position with the golfer's eyes over said centerline marker of said putter head.

2. The golf putter according to claim 1, wherein the centerline marker is perpendicular to the striking face and is vertically aligned with the desired area of putter to ball impact of said putter head.

3. The golf putter according to claim 1, wherein said putter shaft extends across said putter head from proximate said toe towards said heel at an acute angle with the sole of said putter head, crossing the center line of said putter head.

4. The golf putter according to claim 3, wherein said putter
5 shaft extends up from said putter head vertically, when said putter is in the putting position and then angles toward the golfer.

5. A golf putter according to any of claims 1 to 3, in use,
10 where the golfer's eyes are aligned with the transverse marking on the shaft and the centerline marking on the putter head.
